Summary

With a wealth of expertise in software development, I excel in assisting with the design, development, and maintenance of software solutions. I write clean, scalable code using React , Node ,Express , Javascript .NET, Java, Python, and other languages. Throughout the software development life cycle, I contribute to the concept, design, build, deploy, test, and release stages. I conduct rigorous systems tests to ensure software and hardware compatibility. Collaborating with cross-functional teams, I implement new features and document programming tasks. I adeptly debug and resolve technical issues, while staying updated on industry trends and suggesting innovative technologies for system enhancement.
